HARRISBURG (AP)—A $1 million increase in salaries at the 11 state-owned colleges was approved unanimously Wednesday by the House and sent to the Senate for further action.

The measure, supported by the Scranton administration, would set new minimums ranging from $5,680 a year for instructors to $9,260 for professors.

The present minimums range from $4,500 to $6,000 and present law provides maximums of $5,500 for instructors and $9,000 for professors.

Maximums proposed in the administration bill would range from $6,580 to $10,720. It also provides for merit increases to maximums ranging from $7,610 for instructors and $12,400 for professors.

Pilot Soars Over Berlin Border

BERLIN (AP)—A Polish air force major in full uniform crammed his wife and two young sons into a tiny trainer plane Wednesday and streaked across the rooftops to freedom in West Berlin.

Flying 110 miles from Nadarzew, Poland, at a height of only 160 feet to keep under the radar screen, Maj. Richard Obacz, 31, landed the propeller-driven plane at the U.S. Air Force base at Tempelhof Airport.

Then the happy pilot jumped out of the plane, ran up to the base commander and planted a kiss on each cheek of the astonished American.

A U.S. spokesman said his plea for asylum is being considered.

Sen. Scott Hits ARA On Project

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., protested Wednesday the Area Redevelopment Administration the withholding of funds from a Japanese firm which wants to locate a plant at Hazleton, Pa.

The $45 million expansion of the area redevelopment program which the Senate passed last month included a provision banning aid to foreign firms which want to operate in the United States. It has not yet been adopted by the House.

In a letter to ARA Administrator William L. Batt Jr., Scott said the state, city and firm — the Sekisui Chemical Co.—have already acted to locate the plant in Hazleton, an area of substantial unemployment.

Judge Orders Negro Enrolled

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—U.S. Judge J. Robert Martin of Greenville ordered in separate rulings Wednesday the admission of Negro student Henri Monteith to all-white University of South Carolina and the integration of state-operated parks.

Judge Martin ordered Monteith admitted to the university "with the opening of the next semester and that she be treated as any other student."

His order enjoined the university "from discriminating against the plaintiff (Miss Monteith) or any other Negro applicant similarly situated . . . solely because of his or her race."

Papers Report Cuban Squeeze

HAVANA (AP)—Cuban newspapers reported for the first time Wednesday that Washington has frozen Cuban assets in the United States and taken other measures to clamp on a financial squeeze.

While the papers carried the reports on their front pages, only one commented on the U.S. action. The newspaper El Mundo said:

"Of course this measure does not affect the Cuban government's available dollar reserves for its dealings with other countries because in these transactions American banks or similar organizations are not involved. These reserves are not deposited in any of them."

Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Rails advanced in the face of a threatened railroad strike and the overall stock market declined irregularly Wednesday. Airlines and selected issues were strong.

Not until after the close of trading at the New York Stock Exchange did the news come that the nationwide walkout had been postponed. Rail stocks, however, acted most of the day as if a reprieve were inevitable.

Volume of 3.74 million shares compared with 3.83 million Tuesday.

The Dow Jones industrial average took a moderate loss of 1.97 at 712.12. The Dow Jones average of 30 rails advanced.

Cross-Examination Today

Marek Testifies Shanley Ordered Checks Endorsed

Special To The Daily Record

SCRANTON — Checks of National Guardsmen were forged on orders of Gerald E. Shanley Jr., a former aide to the Stroudsburg banker testified in United States Court here yesterday.

Shanley, 42, is on trial before Chief Judge Michael H. Sheridan and the jury of six men and six women charged with aiding and abetting in forgery, uttering, false statements and using the mails to defraud.

Indications are that the trial will go into next week. The government will probably rest its case today.

Vincent E. Marek Jr., Tannersville, former first sergeant of Co. A, 109th Infantry, Pennsylvania National Guard, continued to testify for the government during yesterday's proceedings.

Marek, discharged from the 109th following his solo contending plea to a variety of criminal charges, will undergo cross-examination by Atty. Edwin M. Kosik when court reconvenes today at 9:30 a.m. for another session until 1 p.m.

Yesterday's session was adjourned an hour early as lawyers met with Judge Sheridan in an effort to iron out legal questions.

Reports are the government is trying to introduce certain bank records as they pertain to Shanley before resting its case.

Shanley is vice president of the First Stroudsburg National Bank and a former Scrantonian. He was commanding officer of Co. A during 1959 and 1960, a period in which the government charges checks were forged and cashed unknown to the payees.

Says 30 Checks Diverted
Marek testified that about 30 checks involving from 10 to 12 individuals were diverted in '59 and '60. He couldn't venture a guess as to the amount involved.

From the witness stand, Marek said his former commanding officer ordered him to sign three checks which represented drill pay for Co. A members for summer encampment at Indiantown Gap Military Reservation July 30 to Aug. 13, 1960.

The checks were payable to Russell Frederick, Russell Nauman and Marvin L. Papillon, according to Marek who said the three were not entitled to full pay because they did not participate in the entire 15-day encampment at the Gap.

In earlier testimony Marek said some $1,100 in National Guard checks were cashed in the Colonial Diner, Stroudsburg with the knowledge of the then Capt. Shanley.

Highlighting Marek's second day of testimony was his statement that the three checks, covering the entire 15-day training period, were handed to him by Capt. Shanley at Indiantown Gap on Aug. 12, 1960.

Marek said Shanley handed him each check and ordered him to "sign it."

"I signed it," Marek testified, referring to each of the three checks.

Marek said that Shanley was to make arrangements to have the six checks cashed at the Colonial Diner operated by Vincent Vecchio.

The witness insisted that a Shanley told Melvin Curtis, Co. A supply sergeant, to take the checks to the diner and that Vecchio would have enough cash on hand to cash the drafts.

Marek said Curtis handed him an envelope containing the money for the checks and that he (Marek) took out an amount covering his draft and turned the rest over to Shanley.

The witness testified he never saw the money again and presumed it was used for company purposes.

The practice of diverting Co. A checks from payees stopped shortly before the 1960 encampment, because of a letter from an unidentified officer, Marek said.

Marek qualified this with the statement that only the three checks for camp training, for Frederick, Nauman and Papillon were diverted after that time.

The former Co. A first sergeant did not identify the officer, whom he said expressed displeasure in a letter, because he (the officer) thought, in Marek's words, "I was giving him the shaft."

"We told him (the officer) we didn't want to do anything wrong anymore," Marek continued, and said, "we" referred to himself and Capt. Shanley.

Marek said he consulted with

Capt. Shanley before permitting Frederick, Nauman and Papillon to skip training at Indiantown Gap the summer of 1960.

However, each was listed on the payroll voucher for 15 days training pay, he added.

In questioning by assistant U. S. Atty. Carlton M. O'Malley Jr., who is handling the government's case, Marek testified of depositing a U. S. treasurer's check for $10.80 in the St. Paul's Sunday School account. He said he was treasurer of the unit.

Sunday School Collections
Marek explained that he took $10.80 from Sunday School collections and substituted a check issued in the name of Theodore Van Buskirk. He said he used the cash to pay company bills.

The witness also testified he paid personal bills with Co. A checks, later, substituting funds from his personal account, to pay company bills.

O'Malley had Marek explain the Co. A "slush fund," which according to the witness contained between $20 and $50. Money from the fund was used to pay company bills, Marek said.

He cited payment for two halves of beer for a company party and cleaning supplies.

Some funds were used to supplement food rations, he added.

Marek said the National Guard allowed $1 for three meals for those firing on the range. It was necessary to purchase supplies on the open market and this amount was not sufficient to meet food costs, Marek testified, hence the need for supplementing rations.

Opening of yesterday's session was delayed 30 minutes as lawyers argued legal points in Judge Sheridan's chambers.

When the trial resumed it was found that Jackson McKinley, of Peckville, was absent due to a death in the family. The alternate juror John Grula, of Freehold, took his place.

Direct examination of Marek, regarded as the government's principal witness, ended at 11:40 a.m.

First action of Atty. Kosik was to see any statement that Marek made to investigating officers. A lengthy sidebar followed at which Kosik was furnished with one statement. He is reported to have insisted on other material and early adjournment as arguments moved to the judge's chambers.

School Director
Marek, a Pocono Twp. school director, is expected to be on the stand for most of today's abbreviated session under cross-examination.

The former first sergeant, a veteran of some 14 years of military service, has freely admitted forging and cashing National Guard checks, payable to Co. A members.

He has also admitted changing addresses on payroll vouchers in order to divert checks.

But, he said throughout his lengthy testimony, Capt. Shanley, as commanding officer of Co. A, was aware of what was going on.

Committee Named To Re-study Issues

WASHINGTON (AP)—A nationwide railroad strike was postponed Wednesday eight hours before it was set to begin. President Kennedy won time to arm himself with authority to meet the threat if it arises again.

The railroads and on-train unions agreed to freeze any rule changes or strike notice until July 29 to permit a new study of their four-year-old dispute on which Kennedy can base legislative proposals designed to settle the issues.

Kennedy said he will send his recommendations, and the report by a special six-man subcommittee of the Labor-Management Advisory Committee, to Congress on July 22.

This would put Congress on a tight one-week schedule if any new authority is needed to prevent a new strike threat.

It was a personal victory for the President who had worked most of the day to head off what seemed like an almost certain shutdown after the unions rejected a proposal he made Tuesday to submit the dispute to compulsory arbitration by U.S. Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg.

The unions said they rejected that route because of a "matter of deepest principle," although they said Goldberg was about the best arbitrator available.

Kennedy announced the agreement personally in a brief and unadorned appearance before the nation's television cameras and radio microphones at 4:20 p.m.

Heed Day
It was the climax of a day of intense activity at the White House and in the government agencies that would have to deal with any strike. Negotiators for both sides remained available for call by the President on 30 minutes notice after the unions had delivered their takedown — and the railroads their acceptance — of the arbitration proposal at 10 a.m.

The President conferred with several of his Democratic congressional leaders and with government officials before finally calling the two sides together again at the White House at 4 p.m.

"In view of the unique and all-important nature of this labor-management dispute," Kennedy told the nation, he had asked for a new government review by a subcommittee headed by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

Kennedy said, as result of his talks with congressional leaders, he was asking the parties to withhold any rule changes or strike notice until July 29 "to permit appropriate consideration of the matter."

He listed on the subcommittee which will conduct the study with Wirtz: Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, vice chairman; Joseph Block, board chairman of Inland Steel, Chicago; George Harrison; AFL-CIO vice president and long-time president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks; AFL-CIO President George Meany; and Stuart T. Saunders, board chairman of the Norfolk and Western Railroad.

J. E. Wolfe, chairman of the railroad negotiating committee, said it is the carriers' understanding that the dispute will be settled one way or another by July 29.

He said the railroad and union negotiators will hold a preliminary meeting with Wirtz Thursday to review the facts and issues.

Wolfe said the carriers accepted the proposal reluctantly. He said they did so because "private rights must yield to the public interest."

Union leaders also held a news conference and said they were glad they could accept Kennedy's proposal and are more hopeful of the outcome from their view.

No Hint Of Legislation
Kennedy did not indicate what kind of legislation he might ask. But a Capitol Hill source said the President will propose an amendment to the Railway Labor Act providing for compulsory arbitration.

A rail strike at one minute past midnight Wednesday had seemed certain. All previous efforts had failed to put off that deadline set by the carriers for imposing new work rules at midnight in the various time zones. The five operating unions involved said their walkout would follow a similar cross-country creeping pattern.

The main work rules change opposed by the unions calls for knocking out the jobs of 40,000 firemen on freight and yard diesel locomotives, with another 25,000 jobs possibly wiped out by other changes. The unions maintain that most of these jobs are necessary for safe and efficient operations.

The changes which the railroads want to institute, with the sanction of the Supreme Court, are along lines worked out by a presidential board headed by former New York Supreme Court Justice Samuel J. Rosenman. That group modified findings of a prior board. There was a report earlier that Kennedy wanted to put the problem back in the hands of the Rosenman board.

Kennedy's Statement

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is President Kennedy's statement announcing that a rail strike has been headed off.

In view of the unique and all-important nature of this labor-management dispute, I am asking a special six-man subcommittee of the labor-management advisory committee, to be composed of Joseph Block, George Harrison, George Meany, Stuart Saunders, secretary of labor as chairman, the secretary of commerce as vice chairman, to undertake immediately in full consultation with the parties, a comprehensive review and report limited to the facts and issue in this case and the respective positions of the parties.

This report will be transmitted to the congress on July 22, 1963, with appropriate legislative recommendations from me which would be designed to dispose of the issues in this particular case.

After consultation with the congressional leaders, I am asking the parties to withhold any rule change or strike notice until July 29 to permit appropriate consideration of this matter, with the understanding that no further such request for a continuance will be made by this administration.

The railroads and the unions have accepted this proposal, and there will be no strike this evening.

Moscow-Peking Rift Grows Wider As Showdown Looms

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Khrushchev pulled out all stops Wednesday to pay conspicuous honor to Hungarian Premier János Kadar, his ally in the struggle to prevent Red Chinese domination of the world Communist movement.

As Chinese and Soviet negotiators debated hot ideological issues in the cool Lenin Hills, Khrushchev—all smiles—met Kadar at the train, reviewed a guard of honor with him and gave televised publicity to a unity session the two held in the Kremlin.

Neither made any public mention of the showdown battle going on a few miles away.

The Soviet news agency Tass

meanwhile reported that Minister of Communications Nikolai Pisarev, Wednesday ordered completion of the Moscow-Washington "hot line" by Sept. 1.

In a clear jab at the Chinese, the news agency said the agreement on the emergency Kremlin White House communications set up had great political significance. The link is designed to prevent accidental war.

A Peking radio statement asserted, for the first time, that "the Communist party of China and the Communist party of the Soviet Union are equal."

The Red Chinese have always previously paid lip service, at least, to the theory that the Russians ranked first because they were the direct heirs of communism's oracle, V. I. Lenin.

The claim to full equality placed Peking in even more open opposition to Moscow than has hitherto been the case.

The Chinese have charged that the congress, which relentlessly pressed Khrushchev's views on global peace strategy, was run undemocratically.

Neither side has given any hint on the progress of the Soviet-Red China talks.

Well-informed sources have said that the Chinese are pressing for an early meeting of the world's 89 Communist parties.

They said the Chinese had demanded new voting procedures at international Communist gatherings that would weigh the ballots in favor of the parties with larger memberships.

$1,110,498 Federal Grant For Lincoln Ave. Project

WASHINGTON—A federal grant of $1,110,498 was conditionally approved for work by the Monroe County Urban Redevelopment Authority, the office of the late Rep. Francis E. Walter announced yesterday.

King W. Beers, executive director of the Monroe County Urban Redevelopment Authority, said, "I was informed yesterday by a telephone call from State Senator Fred B. Rooney that the grant had been made."

He continued, "This approval means that the federal government will grant the redevelopment authority $1,110,498 for all costs involved in the Lincoln Avenue Area Project."

"This decision was made by the Urban Renewal Administration two days before the expiration of the flood control credits (July 7) upon which the Borough of East Stroudsburg depended so heavily. The Borough of East Stroudsburg therefore will be credited with $134,000 for work already accomplished in connection with the flood control project," he continued.

Beers concluded, "This decision from Washington culminated seven months of vigorous activity by the Borough of East Stroudsburg in which codes and zoning ordinances were adopted, more public housing was approved to cope with the relocation of the Lincoln Avenue Project, and all planning on this project was accomplished."

The project includes 52 acres of land. Beers said, "Local businessmen have tentatively expressed interest in acquiring 38 acres for development."

Harriman Headed For Moscow Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman headed for Moscow Wednesday pledging U.S. good faith in nuclear test ban negotiations and expressing hope for beneficial results for East-West relations.

Harriman said he expects he will know within about a week after the start of the Moscow talks next Monday whether an "understanding on the subjects which are before us" can be reached.

The announced purpose of the Moscow conference among U.S., British and Soviet negotiators is an agreement to stop further nuclear tests. Soviet Premier Khrushchev has served notice that he wants in addition a non-aggression pact between the NATO and Warsaw Military Alliance.

Harriman said: "I am only authorized to negotiate the test ban, but I am authorized to discuss and explore other subjects."

He said the problem of Laos is the only issue he will raise with Khrushchev and other Soviet officials, aside from the test ban question. Russia is co-chairman of the Geneva agreement for a neutral and independent Laos.

The 71-year-old veteran diplomat, who has been on high level missions to Moscow since World War II days, told newsmen there are "certain indications" that Khrushchev is really interested in at least a partial test ban. He noted that the Soviet leader has proposed an agreement outlawing all atomic explosions except those underground, as have the Western powers.

However, he acknowledged that it is not known here yet just what conditions Khrushchev may be attaching to his proposal.

House Group Okays Reorganization Revision

HARRISBURG (AP)—The House Education Committee sent to the floor for action Wednesday legislation that would either drastically revise the state's controversial 1961 school district reorganization law or repeal it.

On an 11-7 vote the committee endorsed a Senate-approved bill that would broaden reorganization provisions of the 1961 law, putting them on the basis of 1963 county plans, instead of on a strict population basis.

By the same vote margin the committee sent to the floor a new bill that would repeal the 1961 law outright. In the absence of any substitute reorganization measure, there would be no compulsory reorganization.

The 1961 law was designed to reduce the state's present 2,100 school districts to between 300 and 400. The present reorganization revision measure would result in about 530 school districts.

The repeal measure was seen as a move to test sentiment on school district reorganization.

Meanwhile, the House approved Gov. Scranton's proposed bituminous strip mining bill tightening up back-filling of mine voids and putting into effect other conservation features.

Sportsmen on the legislative scene were jubilant at the final House approval of the measure which already had been approved by the Senate. The vote was 199-0. The House action was on agreement to Senate amendments. The measure was sent to Gov.

Scranton for expected signing into law next Tuesday. The law would become effective Jan. 1.

The Senate Appropriations Committee cleared the way for final action on 19 administration appropriation bills after adding $1.2 million for capital improvements.

The $1.2 million package was approved in the House Monday. Major additions were $47,700 for youth development services and $488,250 added to $321,063 approved by the House for state mental hospitals.

In other legislative developments:

Medical care for the aged—The House refused to go along with Senate changes in a package of bills broadening eligibility for medical care for the aged. The Senate had put off the effective date on the House originated package until Jan. 1. If the Senate insists on the change, the package would go into a joint House-Senate conference committee for further action.

Ripper legislation—Senate Republicans proposed a bill that would allow the governor to dismiss appointees to state boards and commissions regardless of any statutory term of office they are to serve. The measure fell into the category of so-called "ripper" legislation, since it would allow the administration to remove all existing appointed Democratic office holders and replace them with Republicans, if it chose to do so.

Civil Rights Legislation

President Kennedy's delay in pushing for the civil rights legislation he promised in his 1960 campaign platform set the stage for the 1963 Negro revolution in America.

That revolution — with its Negro marches and demonstrations, white retaliation, murder and violence — has forced Kennedy to propose sweeping and unprecedented civil rights legislation.

The heart of his "Civil Rights Act of 1963" is Title II which bans discrimination in public accommodations. It would directly affect the resort hotel and motel industry of the Pocono Mountains by forcing most establishments to serve and accommodate Negroes or any other minority.

Its specific wording would guarantee to Negroes or any other minority "the goods, services, facilities and privileges" of any "hotel, motel or other public place engaged in furnishing lodging to transient guests, including guests from other states..."

In effect, a Negro from Philadelphia could legally be denied a room at a Pocono Mountain hotel, but not a Negro from New York City or Birmingham or Los Angeles.

It Is Needed...

The major argument for the bill is moral. "After all, it's right," said President Kennedy.

But many see the bill as a conflict of two rights, both of which should be protected by law and the constitution — human rights and property rights.

The public accommodations title is attacked by some as an unconstitutional assault on private property rights of businessmen.

But there is a failure to make a distinction between public and private business. Any business which opens its doors to the public has sacrificed its inviolable privacy. It is difficult to argue that a hotel open for all the business it can get or a motel on a public highway is a purely private business.

It has been proposed that businesses with under $150,000 gross annual income be exempt from the public accommodations section. But that misses the point of the law. Why should it be illegal for big hotels to discriminate but legal for small hotels?

It is argued that the states should adopt their own civil rights legislation. That would be the best solution. But too many states, north and south, have failed to do so. The states having defaulted, the federal government is forced to act.

The need for this legislation should be faced by all Americans. It is 100 years late. It should not be necessary to pass laws to ensure basic American rights. But stronger civil rights laws are needed now because those basic rights have been denied our own citizens.

...But It Is Weak

Congressional testimony has already shot the public accommodations section of the civil rights bill full of legal and practical holes. Some of the problems:

(1) A critical Supreme Court decision as to whether a private restaurant can restrict its customers to one race has not been made yet. Some argue that Congress should wait for that decision.

(2) The public accommodations section is clearly a hornet's nest of court litigation. Attorney General Robert Kennedy shows confusion as to what is covered and what is not. Are bowling alleys and beer halls covered? They are not mentioned in the bill.

(3) The bill allows any aggrieved person to start civil suit for preventative relief, injunctions or restraining orders, but there is wide latitude for the attorney general of the United States to start suit for an individual.

The federal offense would go immediately to federal courts, which would become clogged with cases in a short time. The attorney general would have to double his large staff.

(4) A major legal debate centers on whether the bill should be based on the 14th amendment's equal protection and prohibition of state action against federally-guaranteed rights or should be based on the Constitution's interstate commerce clause.

Because the Supreme Court held in 1883 that the 14th amendment covered discrimination by state action but not by private business open to the public, the 1963 bill was based on the Constitutional clause allowing the federal government to regulate interstate commerce.

This limits and weakens the bill. On top of legal and practical weaknesses, it makes the bill almost impossible to enforce.

...And Must Be Changed

At the moment, the civil rights bill satisfies few groups.

Already the NAACP and other Negro groups are saying the Kennedy bill is not strong enough. They want more. They want federal housing, job rights, and union integration legislation also.

But violence will not help their cause. They have a right to demonstrate, but they do not have the right to invade the rights of others as they have in some street riots and in their demands for jobs regardless of their qualifications and education.

On the other side, die-hard segregationists are enraged by Kennedy's legislative proposals.

The chances are that a Congressional compromise will make no one happy. But some workable legislation is needed soon before the Negro revolution ignores the law, the courts and the Congress to achieve its ends. No bill would be better than a bill which cannot work.

Closed-Door Sessions

Washington—Military security detaches that much of the Senate investigation into the TFX plane controversy be held in secret. This is understandable in a world that seems to be becoming overpopulated with Christine Keelers. But the closed-door precaution has a sad aspect, too. It robs the American public of some enlightening performances.

Chairman John L. McClellan feels he has to keep the hearings locked because he never knows when a witness from the Pentagon will drop some classified morsel into testimony that otherwise could be shouted from the housetops—if you could find owners of houses who would let their tops be used for shouting such irrelevances.

It's also too bad everybody can't be let in soon because the Senate Permanent Investigations Subcommittee is going to believe its name. Contrary to growing belief it does not plan to continue its TFX hearings forever and ever. They are to be brought to a close just this side of eternity—in another two weeks.

In the meantime, the wonderful shows go on, with no audience excepting influential Senators and Jerome S. Adelman, who succeeded Bobby Kennedy as chief counsel. I do not pose as a drama critic, but from information my spies have smuggled out of the star chamber, I would rate the performances of the Pentagon eggheads as most entertaining.

The most ovate egghead over there now is Dr. James H. Wakeelin Jr., Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Research and Development. He went into the secret chamber to be quizzed on the relative safety of the TFX, which Boeing didn't get to make, and the one that General Dynamics did. But somewhere, he got off the plane and onto lusher at Coney Island who eat ice cream cones.

For five pages of testimony he baffled and bewildered the less egghead Senators into bemused silence. When I learned about it later I noted one of the solons—ordinarily one of the most accomplished interrupters in the nation—why he had made no attempt to interrupt Dr. Wakeelin. He said: "When they get going like that let 'em go!"

Because of security restrictions I will skip the evidence on relative safety between the discarded Boeing and the accepted General Dynamics, and give you only this verbatim exchange between the Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Senator McClellan: Dr. Wakeelin: I am reminded of the relationship purportedly between the number of drunks at Coney Island and the number of people that eat ice cream cones. There is a very strong correlation.

The Chairman: Is that very relevant to this issue?

Dr. Wakeelin: All right. The Chairman: Let us get the ice cream cones in and the people that drowned at Coney Island. If it is relevant in any way on earth.

Dr. Wakeelin: It is relevant because I want to draw a comparison between these data and the drownings at Coney Island. If I recall the statistics, if I were going to go to swim at Coney Island I would say I should not eat ice cream cones before I go into the water.

The Chairman: That is very illuminating. This sort of thing went on for pages and pages, which I read and re-read. But I never could comprehend the connection between the speed at which a Boeing or a General Dynamics TFX lands on an aircraft carrier and the core-wolfing tosspots at Coney Island.

Same Old Act

By Mason Denton

Harrisburg — Pennsylvania's lawmakers once again are heading for an open switch as they hard-pounding adjournment express thinkers over legislative rails.

Hard-bitten Republican administration leaders who this session by virtue of their grip in the House and Senate hold the upper hand on the legislative throttle are heading for the same open switch lawmakers played into during that abortive record-breaking 1955-56 session.

In a nutshell, in their hip-hip drive for an early adjournment date for the 1963 session ("we want a record of a short-business-like session") they are planning to close shop without regard to potential gubernatorial vetoes.

This is the point: the Governor has ten days to approve or veto bills sent to his desk by the Legislature.

The Legislature by a two-thirds vote can override a veto, as opposed to the simple majority originally required to pass legislation.

The Legislature by a two-thirds vote can override a veto, as opposed to the simple majority originally required to pass legislation.

Shortly thereafter a top legislative leader poot-pooted the veto possibility with the comment: "The Governor wouldn't dare veto the appropriation after approving the authorizing legislation."

The following week the legislation was vetoed!

The chaos, confusion and financial distress for local school districts throughout the state that suddenly found themselves forced to scramble for funds to make up the legislative deficiency is now history.

Yet the same pattern is being followed this year by Republican legislative leaders who this session grip the throat of the 1963 Legislature.

On their present and long contemplated schedule they are determined to close the legislative doors—leaving in the Governor's hands a listful of perhaps routine but nevertheless important bills, including appropriation measures—without the possibility of legislative correction where vetoes may develop.

Such a move is anything but a clean and complete wrap-up of legislative details.

Actually it leaves the job only partly finished. A speedy session at taxpayer expense is one thing—but if it fails in constructive accomplishment in its haste it becomes meaningless. This might well keynote the 1963 session now ending.

California is spending millions to transport by pipeline some of the rain water that beads down so persistently on the coastal region of Washington and Oregon. A University of Washington professor in Seattle told me, "That majestic peak you see about sixty miles to the Southeast is Mount Rainier. We use it as a weather guide every morning. If we can see it when we wake up, we know it's going to rain later in the day. If we can't see it, we know it's raining already!"

When Seattle folk can see Mt. Rainier, incidentally, or when Mt. Hood is visible to the citizens of Portland, the common phrase is, "Oh, look: the mountain is out today!"

Record

—By BOB CLARK

The betting gentry are wagering 2-1 that Francis (Tad) Walters' "protege" will be the next representative from the 15th Congressional District.

The boys who put their money where others only show their mouths see the 38-year-old bachelor from Bethlehem following "the book" in his quest for the seat well warmed for 30 years by the late Easton congressman.

State Sen. Fred Rooney, a young man who has gone far during his comparatively short political career, is what the gambler figures "the almost sure bet."

What has Rooney going for him? Well a reported 30,000 Democratic majority in the four counties comprising the 15th District is nothing to sneeze at.

Also the fellow who finally became a political "man" under the tutelage of the late State Sen. Joseph Yosko has his winning halo bestowed upon him by Walters. Like, some would say, he's a winner now that he has donned the Yankee uniform. The latter is like having Eddie Arcaro on the saddle adorning Whirlaway. A winning combination as they say in the trade.

Rooney is highly regarded in state circles. His appointment to head the powerful Senate's state highways committee indicated the feeling among the hierarchy of the Georgia University graduate's potential. Especially the magic wand waved by a man who has only been on the political scene a short spell.

Yesterday Rooney was in the Stroudsburg and Monroe County trying to get some of the support Walters carried for so many years. From the scuttlebutt on the main stems and the chirps from the mountains, the gentleman who is also known for his real estate knowledge needn't worry too much on this score.

Rooney is a died-in-the-wool Democrat. He sees no party except the one now in power in Washington. However, it must be said that he advocates Walters' philosophy of no partisan thinking in matters that concern all the people.

It will be interesting to see how the bookies fare when the final ballots are tabulated just 19 days from now. It also will be newsworthy to find out if he have another "shining star" ready to illuminate the sky in Washington, D.C.

The Allen-Scott Report

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington—Governor Nelson Rockefeller is again postponing decision whether "to be or not to be."

The new backstage timing of the fateful announcement of what he will do about the 1964 presidential race is "after Labor Day"—with no indication exactly when that may be.

Members of the New York's inner political council are of the opinion the die actually won't be definitely cast until late this year.

This further delay is highly significant. It marks another major switch in plans.

It could be the beginning of the end of Rockefeller's presidential hopes.

For despite those recent carefully-inspired reports that he is still full of fight and resolutely determined to wage an all-out effort to regain the ground lost as a result of his second marriage, the real fact is that Rockefeller's plans are very much at loose ends, and he and his close advisers are gropingly up in the air on just what to do.

In the last few weeks they have been severely jolted by a series of disconcerting rebuffs.

Rocky Holds Off

The first was shortly after he returned from his honeymoon.

Accompanied by his new wife, Rockefeller proposed making a whirlwind tour of his state to confer with county and other local GOP leaders. It was his confident belief that the combination of the new Mrs. Rockefeller's charm and his own vigorous electioneering would overcome the antipathy which had developed in party ranks, and that the dissidents would be brought back into line.

But it didn't work out that way. Upstate disapproval was so pronounced that the barnstorming plan was quietly shelved. Instead, the word went out Rockefeller would make his views known on important issues in selective addresses and public statements.

Goldwater Bandwagon—On the heels of this upset, the New York governor's lieutenants were jarred by what the latter experienced at the Republican National Committee meeting in Denver last month.

Sentiment there was overwhelmingly for Senator Barry Goldwater.

National Committee members, state chairmen and other party leaders who had been actively for Rockefeller were whooping it up for Goldwater.

Among these apparent enthusiasts was National Chairman William Miller—from Rockefeller's home state. Miller, who has let it be known he is getting out of politics, giving up both his seat in Congress and the National chairmanship, left little doubt he was swinging to Goldwater.

This nearly caused an altercation between Miller and one Rockefeller supporter—who sharply chided Miller for taking sides while national chairman.

All of Rockefeller's top political managers attended the Denver meeting, accompanied by a large staff of assistants and press aides. They literally swarmed over the conference in a strenuous effort to hold Rockefeller back in line and to stave off Goldwater inroads.

They got nowhere on either. Republican chiefs from all over the country, the East, Middle West and West, as well as the South, bluntly declared they could no longer support Rockefeller. In every instance, the principal reason attributed was his second marriage.

One West Coast leader enthusiastically recalled that last fall he had been personally assured by Rockefeller that he had no intention of remarrying before the 1964 election. "On the basis of that unequivocal statement," he said, "I stuck my neck out and declared for him. I've learned my lesson. As far as I'm concerned, he's through."

Others were equally outspoken. "Three times," said a prominent midwesterner, "Bob Taft had the presidential nomination snatched from him by Eastern elements that have long controlled the party. He was a great man and he would have made a great President. But every time when the prize was within his grasp these forces intervened and put in their own man."

"That is not going to happen this time. This time, we Taft people are going to see to it that our man is the nominee, and our man is Barry Goldwater. We're going to do that because this isn't only a battle for the 1964 nomination. It is also a battle for control of the Republican party."

That's the big prize at stake in this race, and we're going to win it with Goldwater.

Some of Rockefeller's lieutenants returned from Denver dolefully convinced he is washed up for any chance as the 1964 standard-bearer.

The strategy they now are talking is that he concentrate on (1) having an influential voice in the selection of the ticket, and (2) a decisive hand in writing the party's platform.

That's a big order, but they feel that with Rockefeller's extensive campaign organization and immense financial resources he can do it.

George Hinman, New York Committeeman and Rockefeller's personal attorney, still argues he has a chance for the big prize and should keep after it. It was Hinman who was the source of those cheerio reports that Rockefeller's still is in the ring and he will continue to battle right down to the wire.

But don't bet on it. Maybe he will, and then again maybe he won't.

He didn't in 1959!

Politicians — Other Goldwater rallies, similar to the big one in Washington July 4, may be staged in other sections of the country. That's being urged on Peter O'Donnell, Jr., 39-year-old Texas GOP state chairman, who heads the National Draft Goldwater Committee. He has received a number of letters proposing such rallies in the Middle West and West.

Speaking Of Your Health:

Speeding Ambulances

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

In its never-ending desire to attain maximum safety, The National Safety Council will soon embark on a program for better ambulance service. Traffic accidents constitute the major need for urgent care and transportation to hospital emergency rooms.

There was a time, about fifteen years ago, when doctors rode ambulances as a regular part of their early internship training after graduation from medical school. Later, doctors were replaced by well-trained personnel equipped to handle immediate emergency needs and to supervise the safe transportation of the injured.

Screaming Siren

Everyone, at some time, has been aware of the momentary unpleasant confusion when an ambulance with terrifying screaming siren suddenly crossed the path of his automobile.

Recently a physician's automobile was almost rammed by an ambulance that crossed against the stream of traffic. Out of sheer curiosity, he followed the ambulance back to the hospital yard. The driver and the "copilot" climbed out of an empty ambulance.

You can understand the doctor's surprise and annoyance when he discovered that the urgency turned out to be the last two innings of a baseball game.

Needless Accidents

Does it sound preposterous? Most doctors who have ridden ambulances will agree that their unnecessary and excessive speed is responsible for many accidents. The destruction of life and property by the violation of driving rules is far more extensive than the contribution these ambulances can make.

Drivers of ambulances must be taught that they also have a great responsibility to pedestrians and other drivers. They must be taught that driving an ambulance is a serious assignment rather than a special permit for the violation of existing traffic regulations.

HELP FOR THE DISTURBED

Man shows many kindnesses to his fellowmen.

Recently, a new emergency room service for the emotionally disturbed, the despondent, the depressed, was formed at the Kings County Hospital in Brooklyn. Psychiatrists at the hospital recognized that there was a need for emergency treatment of the injured emotions just as there was a need for the emergency treatment of fractures of the leg or appendicitis.

Friendless, confused people who have no place or person to turn to for comfort, guidance and understanding are made welcome in this thoughtfully planned emergency room. The lives of many potential suicides are being saved by the kindness, understanding and early help that doctors and psychiatrists are able to offer those who are temporarily unable to withstand the duress and stress of their problems.

LONG LIVES AHEAD

For the first time in the history of man, the life expectancy of infants at birth has passed the 70-year mark. It can be anticipated that female babies will live to 73.9 years and males to 67.3 years.

The statistics are heartening, but the real basis for optimism is the awareness of the accomplishments of American medicine that makes this possible.

When statistics such as these are fully appreciated, a fear of illness should be minimized. Social progress is advancing hand-in-hand with scientific achievement. A longer life filled with such promise can convert this age of anxiety into an age of hope.

While Dr. Coleman cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Coleman in care of this newspaper.

Rough Situation!

Please, Abby, tell girls back home not to write guys news like that, but to wait until they get home to break the news. My buddy says he doesn't want to live any more.

A BUDDY'S BUDDY

DEAR BUDDY: I've said it many times, but I'll say it again. When a girl promises to "wait" for her man who's gone in the service, she should keep that promise. Frequently, that's the only thing that keeps a guy going.

DEAR MARCIE: Many men shave twice a day and don't mind it a bit. If your man is one of those unfortunate fellows with a heavy beard and a tender face, lay off. If he's just lazy, promise him anything, but give him persuasion.

Rooney To Fight For Winter Sports Facilities For Tocks

STROUDSBURG—Democratic State Senator Fred B. Rooney pledged last night to fight for winter sports facilities in the Tocks Island National Recreation Area.

He said at a Monroe County Bar Assn. dinner at the Penn-Stroud Hotel that such winter facilities would give the Pococnos "the greatest year-round vacation area in Eastern America" with one third of the nation's people in easy driving distance when the Keystone Shortway is completed.

On a day-long campaign tour of Monroe County, the Democratic candidate for Congress in the special election July 30 said: "I have contacted the Department of Interior and they have assured me that the Department is wholeheartedly in favor of developing ski slopes and other winter sports facilities as part of Tocks Island."

"I want to assure the resort owners and businessmen of the Pococnos Mountains that I will exercise every influence of the Congressional office to make certain that Tocks Island will be not only a magnificent summertime tourist attraction but will also bring business to this region throughout the year."

Rooney Expects To Carry Monroe In July 30 Duel

STROUDSBURG—State Senator Fred B. Rooney, Democratic candidate for Congress in the July 30 special election, said yesterday he is confident of victory in Monroe County.

"I am confident that I am going to be elected to the Congress to succeed my dear friend, Tad Walter," Rooney said.

"I have been somewhat reluctant to count on Monroe County, but after my tour today I am convinced that I am going to carry this county." (See Off The Record by Bob Clark on Page 4.)

Rooney toured Monroe County with Dr. Charlotte Jordan and Sheriff Jacob F. Altomose, co-chairmen of the county "Rooney for Congress Committee." W. C. G. Peterson, Democratic county chairman, and Grace Palmer, county vice chairman.

He visited the courthouse in the morning, then took a "walking tour" of Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg business sections and visited the Monroe County General Hospital.

Lunch At Buck Hill

He toured Barrett Township and had lunch at The Inn at Buck Hill Falls.

Present at the lunch were:

Leader To Speak At Picnic

STROUDSBURG — Former Gov. George M. Leader will speak at the "Rooney for Congress" picnic Sunday afternoon at the home of State Rep. Van D. Yetter on new Rt. 209 near Marshalls Creek.

Monroe County Democratic Chairman W. C. G. Peterson said the free picnic will be "open to everyone who is a resident of Monroe County without regard to political affiliation."

Yetter yesterday backed Rooney for election, burying hard feelings which arose during Yetter's unsuccessful attempt to win the Democratic nomination.

He asked citizens of Monroe County to "cast their votes for Senator Rooney as the man who has the experience and the knowledge of government to become an effective, strong voice in the Congress."

'Deliberate' Fires Kicks Off Probe

BUCK HILL FALLS — Investigators have been brought into the area to probe fires which evidence reveals were deliberately set in the vicinity of Al-Jere Lodge, Pleasant Ridge, Mountainhome.

The fire Tuesday night was the most recent in a series which investigators say were maliciously set. Investigating are Fire Marshall Stanley Koyosinsky, Hazelton, and District Forester, Gerald Robinson. They are conducting the investigation with the cooperation of the Barrett Volunteer Fire Department, David Blitz, fire chief.

Blitz said yesterday, "If Tuesday's fire had been set at a different time or under slightly different conditions, it would have endangered lives and real estate."

He added, "The firebug, when apprehended will face the extreme penalty provided by law."

Extremely prompt action on Tuesday's fire was possible due to the fact that firemen were already on their way to the fire house for the weekly meeting when the fire was discovered.

2 Teachers Resign At PV

BRODHEADSVILLE — Pleasant Valley Joint School Committee last night accepted the resignation of two teachers, and voted to distribute $14,000 to the three districts in the jointure.

The surplus — $14,814.88 — will be distributed as follows: Chestnut Hill Township School District, $6,493.36; Polk Township School District, $5,465.21; and Ross Township School District, $2,856.31. These figures are based on the percentage each district pays into the jointure.

The resignations of Miss Suzanne Hackenberg and Walter Fox were accepted by the board. John Mills, Superintendent of the Pleasant Valley Joint School System, stated "At this time we have no teachers to fill these vacancies, but we have two possible candidates for the manual arts position and one for the guidance position."

The group was 33 minutes late in starting, due to the lateness of the eighth member of the board needed for a quorum.

New Play Set For Gap Stage

WIND GAP — "Send Me No Flowers, The Last Minute Comedy" will open tonight at the Ross Comedy Playhouse at 8:30.

The comedy by Norman Barasch and Carroll Moore will play tonight through Sunday night and next weekend on the same nights.

The play depicts the antics of a successful electronics executive who believes he is going to die. He secretly attempts to plan for his death, even selecting a second husband for his supposed widow.

The Ross Comedy Playhouse is on Rt. 115 at Wind Gap opposite the Ross Common Manor. This is its second summer production.

409 Pints Of Blood Collected At Depot

TOBYHANNA—Four hundred nine pints of blood were collected at the Tobyhanna Army Depot in a two-day drive that ended yesterday. There were 427 volunteers but 18 were deferred for various reasons.

This week's donation boosted contributions by soldiers and civilians at the local Army post since 1954 to 8,482 pints.

During the drive 15 more became members of the depot's Gallon Donor Club. Membership in this group now totals 401.

The first 28 pints of A positive blood collected on Tuesday were used yesterday in open heart surgery for an area girl at the Geisinger Memorial Hospital, Danville.

Yetter Tax Exempt Bill Passes House

HARRISBURG—A bill sponsored by Rep. Van D. Yetter of Monroe County to limit the tax exemption of charitable organizations passed the House of Representatives at midnight Tuesday. The vote was 162 to 34.

It amends present tax exemptions to require that:

"The property of associations and institutions of benevolence or charity be necessary to and actually used for the principal purposes of the institution and shall not be used in such a manner as to compete with commercial enterprise."

4.8 Class Counties

The law applies to counties of the fourth through eighth classes. Monroe County is a seventh class county, based on its 40,000 population.

If passed by the State Senate, it would affect some camps in the Pocono Mountains and Monroe County in particular.

The amended law exempts "hospitals, universities, colleges, seminaries, academies, associations and institutions of learning, benevolence or charity including fire and rescue stations" and the land necessary for their purposes.

It covers county, borough, township, road, poor, county institution district and school district taxes.

Cites Power Increase

Bartlett Raps New Horizons

WILSON—"Demagogues have discovered they can increase their power and perpetuate themselves in office through the use of the key to the treasury to endear themselves to the voters. The Romans called the key security. Now the new fascists have it upon the emotional appeal of 'government with a heart.'"

Congressional 15th District candidate Bob Bartlett told the Northampton County Republican Women's Council at Meusser Park in Wilson Boro yesterday.

"The worst aspect of deficit spending theory is the sheer waste that goes along with it. Economy in Government is apparently a thing of the past as far as the New Frontier is concerned," he said.

Art Group Readies For 13th Show

EFFORT — Pocono Mountains Art Group Tuesday night made final plans for the 13th Annual Court House Square Outdoor Art Show coming up this Friday and Saturday. Frank Fitz Gerald, president, urged all members to register early for the show.

The group congratulated member Joe DeThomas of Easton who is being sent to the Arctic Circle by the Navy to do paintings of that region.

Members of the Parland Art Group of Allentown and visitors from Easton were present.

The July 23 meeting will be held at Resnick Falls with Mrs. Frantz as hostess.

There will be no meeting Thursday as previously announced.

Tuesday's session was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Reiter, Effort. A covered dish supper featured the meeting.

Bartlett went on to point out the present administration's programs to study the social behavior of ants, and the social structure of Madagascarian society as examples of wasteful spending.

"Ridiculous as they seem," he said, "the above are typical programs given the green light by the administration. Bartlett concluded by saying that the Congress should keep Thomas Jefferson's advice concerning making a choice between 'economy and liberty, or profusion and servitude.' 'It might be well for each member of the Congress to have this quote before him at all times,' Bartlett concluded.

"The resounding defeat of the administration's wheat referendum has indicated that the American farmer is now demanding freedom from government controls so that he might exercise his own judgement in the management of his business and not be subject to the whims of some ivory tower on the Potomac," Bartlett said in an earlier speech at the home of the Ernest Schneider family of Steven

Bartlett cited the example of inefficiency and deficit spending in the Food Grain Bill of 1961 which was to have saved the taxpayers $1 billion, but cost them instead an additional billion for the administration of the new procedures. "It was abandoned after only one year during which time it had cost the taxpayers an additional $1 billion, while the surpluses grew even larger," Bartlett concluded.

The text of the speech closely followed the Wilson Boro deficit spending speech, and Bartlett pointed out the statistics showing Pennsylvania farmers' incomes come to only three percent of the total expenditures in this area.

His solution for government "to get off the back of the farmer and allow a return to a relatively free market type of economy," concluded his remarks.

Take your place in the Peace Corps

You can put your skill to work for a better world—through the Peace Corps. In many countries of Asia, Africa and South America, the shortage of trained manpower (and womanpower) is a serious roadblock to progress. By sharing your knowledge with the people of such countries, you help them to help themselves in the struggle against poverty, hunger and disease.

Right now, there are thousands of opportunities in the Peace Corps—for farmers, builders, engineers, sanitation and health workers, teachers in math, science, English and vocational skills, construction workers, mechanics, youth workers, nurses—and many others. Some jobs require a college degree, specialized or liberal arts—others require no college training. Whatever your field, skill or profession, chances are there is something you can do in the Peace Corps.

Any qualified citizen over 18 is eligible. There is no upper age limit. Husbands and wives may serve together if both are qualified and have no minor dependents. Most Peace Corps assignments last for two years, including a period of training in the language and customs of the country to which you are assigned.

You can make an important contribution to your country and to the world through the Peace Corps... and gain enriching experience as well. Write for full information today.

No Swimming Recommended In Two Water Gap Creeks

WILKES-BARRE — Raymond Schwall, state sanitary engineer of the Department of Health, said yesterday that his office has started investigation of complaints from 50 residents of Delaware Water Gap regarding contamination of Cherry and Caldonia Creeks.

"Inspectors from this office have collected samples of water from both streams at various points. We have samples of Cherry Creek above and below the point of junction with Caldonia Creek, and from this report we do not recommend that the water be used as a public bathing place," Schwall said.

Contamination Indicated
In the bacteria tests proof has been shown that contamination is indicated. He added, "We are not positive as to the source of contamination but we will continue the investigation until the source is discovered and then we will let it be made known to the public."

One test, above Water Gap Country Club and above the point of the Caldonia Creek entrance to Cherry Creek showed a count of 2,400 most probable number of organism per 100 centimeters of water. This department accepts no more than 1,000 MPN for places of public bathing to be safe.

He continued, "From the samples below the junction of Caldonia Creek the count was 110,000 plus in M.P.N."

Time Payment Rules Slated

CHICAGO (AP) — Uniform installment credit rules to cope with the surge in the "buy now-pay later" habit have been adopted by half of the states, a survey shows.

The first state to adopt the code was Pennsylvania in 1953.

American Motors Move Plant

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors Corp. says bodies for its 1964 Ambassador line will be assembled at its Kenosha, Wis., plant, rather than Milwaukee as at present.

No Plans To Widen S. Courtland

EAST STROUDSBURG — Sterling Cramer, borough manager of East Stroudsburg, yesterday said, "I have no knowledge of any plans to widen S. Courtland St."

His answer followed an inquiry about placing parking meters on S. Courtland St. from Starbird St. to Teeter St.

Cramer continued, "There is a possibility that the county Urban Redevelopment Authority might have such proposals in its overall plan of the S. Courtland St. project."

King Boers, executive director of Monroe County Redevelopment Authority, said, "We have no immediate plans for such a program, but several of the authority members have spoken about it. However, widening of the street is still in a talking state and nothing concrete has been done."

The question was brought up following reports that it would be useless to install the 24-hour parking meters along S. Courtland St. only to have them removed in a short time for the street widening program.

County Labor Leaders On Demo Wagon

EASTON — Two Monroe County labor leaders were named Tuesday night to the Committee On Political Education in the 15th Congressional District at a meeting in the ILGWU Hall in Easton.

Stuart Pipher of Tannersville and James Devaney of East Stroudsburg were named to the COPE campaign to elect Fred B. Rooney as representative from the 15th Congressional District at the July 30 special election.

Others on the committee are Harry Ferrante of Easton, and Joseph Altman, also of Easton.

John Posivak was named chairman of the Get Out The Vote Committee, and Roland Roth of Nazareth was named treasurer. Also named to the finance committee were George Wilson and James Lapenta, both of Easton.

The action followed a meeting of 175 delegates from unions within the 15th Congressional District in their endorsement of Rooney as the man to fill the vacancy in Congress due to the death of Francis E. Walker.

Woman Hurt As Vehicle Leaps Walk

STROUDSBURG — A car operated by Mrs. Mary A. Grace of 406 Bryant St., Stroudsburg, went out of control Tuesday as she attempted a left turn off Broad St. to enter the Rt. 80 interchange.

The auto jumped the sidewalk, went over the guard rails and crossed down a 25-foot embankment. She was taken to the General Hospital of Monroe County where she is being held for observation. Her husband, Charles, who was with her at the time, was unhurt.

Stroudsburg police said the car was heading north and traveling down a hill when she lost control while making the turn. Damage to the car was estimated at $500.

FBI Arrests Forgery Suspect

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP)—The FBI and Washington police arrested yesterday an unemployed shipping clerk wanted in Plattsburg, N. Y., on a charge of second degree forgery.

Casket Manufacturers

Firm Interested In Local Site

STROUDSBURG — Wallace Metal Co. of Indiana is interested in building a casket manufacturing plant along the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad line in the vicinity of Stroudsburg, it was disclosed at a meeting of the Pocono Mts. Chamber of Commerce recently.

M. F. Crowe, of Crowe Insurance, and Robert Reppert of the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. have been in negotiations with the Wallace Co., and hope to meet with the firm's president later in the month. The proposed erection of service club signs on the roads approaching Stroudsburg was also discussed. The purpose of these signs would be to inform the incoming tourists as to the opportunities and services available to them in the area.

Chester Miller of the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club pointed out that his club is sponsoring the project, and he urged participation from other groups.

Eric Schuchard of Stormsville said there is a need for business section signs on the highways, for the purpose of guiding tourists into the business section. These signs could be attached to the state sign standards, if there would be no objection.

President Alex Bensinger will write to the owner of an adjacent property for his approval, should the state fail to grant permission to attach the signs on the state standard.

Urges Support

Frank Young stated that Bills 903 to 908 inclusive, which are now before the Pennsylvania

House of Representatives, deal mainly with tax exemptions property, including camps, non-profit organizations, charitable institutions.

Young stated that these exemptions handicap the taxpayers in the respective area, because of an imbalance in payments. He suggested that the Chamber of Commerce and Real Estate Board go on record with the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce as strongly favoring these bills to reduce the tax load.

Because of the poor attendance of the full membership during summer months, Dale Learn motioned to discontinue summer meetings for July and August.

Veteran National Guard Member Re-Enlists

By Jim Shafer
Daily Record Reporter

EAST STROUDSBURG — "Well now, it's like this. I have 15 years service in the National Guard and I only need five more to retire on 20 years service. But this is not the only reason I decided to come back in," Ernest LaBar, first of the old-timers to re-enlist under the "Try One" program of the National Guard, said yesterday.

LaBar is familiar to all the members of "C" Co. in East Stroudsburg and to many of the old-timers of former companies. He has been the custodian of the East Stroudsburg armory the past 22 years.

Ernie, or "Cousin" as he is known, sat in the company office yesterday, smiled and talked of the "old times."

"I told you that retirement was one point in mind when I enlisted this time, but I didn't say what the others were. The other reasons boil down to this. I feel that as a veteran it is part of my responsibility to the youth of the nation to come back and aid in their training," he said.

LaBar continued, "Now don't get me wrong when I say that my experience from the 15 years of prior service is valuable. The youth of today have a certain amount of obligated time they must serve in the armed forces of this country. If I'm able to pass on information that does them just a little bit of good during their stay, then I have accomplished something that nothing can buy and nothing replace."

He entered the Guard in East Stroudsburg in 1937 and remained with the unit until 1952 when he was discharged as a staff sergeant. LaBar, under the new program, was re-enlisted at his old rate.

He was with the unit in Feb. 17, 1941 when orders were received to federalize the Guard.

"After we left the United States in 1942, I stayed with the 28th Division through France, Germany, Holland and the Czechoslovakian border," he added.

A check through his personnel file showed the East Stroudsburg man was awarded the Bronze Star in a skirmish along the border.

The award was presented for his efforts in repairing a disabled vehicle while under fire. The truck was loaded with medical supplies and after he made the necessary repairs he drove the vehicle back to the "friendly lines" so that it could be delivered to a medical aid station.

In addition to the Bronze Star he wears the Pre-Pearl Harbor, American Theater, European Theater with five battle stars, German Occupation, World War II Victory ribbons, and the French Croix de Guerre.

The Croix de Guerre was awarded to Ernie while serving with the French Army for a short time. He declined to comment on the award.

Master Sgt. Albert Kollar, unit administrative supply technician, said, "Sgt. LaBar is the first old-timer to come back in to the unit and we hope that many more will come over to the armory and inquire about the "Try One" program.

The vacancies were caused by the deaths of Rep. David M. Boies, Clairton, Democrat, and James C. Simmons, Bethel Park, Republican.

The present lineup in the House is 108 Republicans and 100 Democrats.

Boies died May 3, while Simmons died June 26.

The special elections will be for the unexpired two-year terms of the respective members.

The hardest part about parking a Corvair is finding a nickel

That may be a slight overstatement, but such jauntiness comes easily when you're a Corvair owner.

And you can usually back it up—as easily as you can back up a Corvair. You'll find yourself doing that occasionally, if only to adjust the brakes—they're self-adjusting. That's all there is to it, and that's a good example of how delightfully easy Corvair is to own, drive and maintain.

But since we began by talking about driving, let's stick with that awhile. A large factor in the fun of driving a Corvair is the location of its engine in the rear. Why the rear? It gives Corvair extra traction on any road surface. It provides a nearly flat floor for more useable interior space. Best of all, it produces steering so light, so responsive, you wonder why no other American-made car thought of it.

Corvair's engine is also air cooled, we might add, which means there's no antifreeze or water for you to add. Ever.

All that pleasure from something so practical almost makes you think Corvair is unique among American cars. Which isn't surprising, because it is!

Settlers Protest Nyasa Violence

BLANTYRE, Nyasaland (AP)—White settlers in Nyasaland have appealed to Britain to "restore law and order" in the newly self-governing central African state.

The appeal was sent yesterday to Deputy Prime Minister R. A. Butler in the wake of the reported beating of an Austrian and two Portuguese by Negro bodyguards of Premier Hastings Banda. The beatings allegedly took place when the whites failed to get their car out of Banda's way fast enough to please its guards.

THE tuna is one of the very few fish that maintain a body temperature somewhat higher than that of the surrounding water.

John C. Eschbach

Local Sailor Blends Duty With Pleasure

STROUDSBURG — John C. Eschbach, son of Arnold and Vernetta Eschbach of Stroudsburg, is a crew member on the USS Alderbaran which returned to Norfolk, Va., July 7 after a tour of duty in the Mediterranean Sea.

During the tour of duty, the Alderbaran replenished 30 ships, including the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Enterprise. In less than three hours, the Alderbaran transferred more than 340 tons of cargo to the Enterprise.

As on past tours, the crew saw tourist attractions and ports in Spain, Italy, and the south of France.

For many of the men, it was their first look at the Cote d'Azur or Blue Coast of Europe, the French Riviera. From St. Raphael, they toured the southern French coast through Cannes, Villefranche, Nice, and Monaco.

For the families of more than 850 American fighting men, Draguignan, near Saint Raphael, evokes 20 year old memories of the sons and husbands buried there. To the men of the Alderbaran, the small French town and Memorial Day 1963 hold special significance. Along with French Army units and French Citizens, the men of the Alderbaran paid tribute to those buried at Draguignan.

More than twenty men from the Alderbaran participated in the ceremonies. They included a 12-man guard, a four man rifle squad, color guard, and a bugler. In addition, 40 others went as spectators in buses provided by the French.

Tours of Naples, Pompeii, and Capri featured views of the Italian country side, and the Mediterranean Sea from the cliffs overlooking Naples. The highlight of the trip to Capri was a boat ride into the famous "Blue Grotto."

In Marseille, France, many of the crew visited the Papal Palace and the Roman ruins.

Ensign Welsh In Florida

MILTON, FLA. — Navy Ensign James R. Welsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Welsh of 1057 Fritz Ave., Stroudsburg, recently reported to the Naval Auxiliary Air Station Whiting Field, Milton, Fla., as a student naval aviator.

He will undergo flight training in the single-engine propeller-driven T-28 trainer. This plane is comparable in performance to aircraft used by the Navy in World War II.

The training program includes precision flying, instrument flight and radio navigation and is climaxed by two-and-four plane formation flying and air-to-air gunnery in which student aviators fire twin .50 caliber machine guns at a towed target.

Rogalinski Aboard Hank

USS HANK — Matthew J. Rogalinski, radarman second class, USN, son of Mrs. Willita Rogalinski of Route 3, Stroudsburg, is serving aboard the destroyer USS Hank, which is in the Mediterranean with the Sixth Fleet.

The Hank is part of the fleet's fast destroyer striking force, which provides a defensive screen for amphibious and aircraft ships during maneuvers or routine operations.

During the cruise, the Hank crewmembers will visit several Mediterranean ports.

Beck With Sixth Fleet

USS HANK — Donald F. Beck, radioman second class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Beck of Gilbert, is serving aboard the destroyer USS Hank, which is in the Mediterranean with the Sixth Fleet.

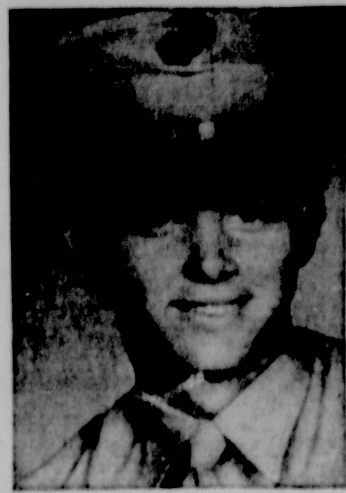

The Hank is part of the fleet's fast destroyer striking force, which provides a defensive screen for amphibious and aircraft ships during maneuvers or routine operations.

Harmon's Allegheny Commended

USS ALLEGHENY — Navy Lieut. Jack E. Harmon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Harmon of La Bar's Nursery, Stroudsburg, is serving aboard the auxiliary ocean tug USS Allegheny, an Atlantic Fleet unit whose officers and men were recently commended for their part in the search for the submarine USS Thresher lost 230 miles east of Cape Cod.

"A richly deserved well done" was extended to the Allegheny crew by Vice Admiral E. W. Grenfell, USN, Commander, Submarine Force Atlantic Fleet. As a unit of Task Group 89.7, Allegheny conducted surveys for more than three weeks in the area where the submarine is believed to have been lost. A scientific team from Columbia University, Hudson Laboratories, was embarked in the Allegheny to aid in the search.

The Allegheny is homeported at New York Naval Shipyard, Brooklyn, N. Y., and operates as a scientific research ship in cooperation with Columbia University, Hudson Laboratories. She is manned by a crew of four officers and 33 enlisted personnel.

Home Gardening Tips

By George Abraham

ORIENTAL POPPIES: Most gardeners grow the common orange-scarlet Oriental poppy, without realizing that there are blooms available in shades of white, pink and red. If you friends happen to have any of these colors available, you might want to start new plants from root cuttings next month.

The brittle roots are cut into five-inch lengths, dipped in sand to arrest bleeding, then planted three inches deep, right end up, at foot intervals in the garden. During the first winter, a protection of evergreen boughs will help and you should get flowers the second spring.

Another way to start new Oriental poppies is to divide the plants in late summer. You can thin out seedling plants almost any time they start to crowd.

Some gardeners have good luck sowing seed of oriental poppy in early spring. Transplant the seedlings into peat pots to avoid root disturbances when planted in their permanent position.

PRAYER PLANT: Several have asked me why a prayer plant (Maranta) will suddenly turn yellow and lose its leaves. One reason for this behavior can be pinned on overwatering. With plastic or glazed containers, you have to be mighty careful, especially with the Prayer plant, because it cannot tolerate poor drainage or soggy soils.

This unusual foliage is semi-tropical, likes a warm window and ample humidity. The plant is happy if the soil is humusy so make sure there's no clay in it. Being a hot-house plant, you're apt to find that the Maranta will yellow off, if the night temperature goes much below 60 degrees. In case you're wondering, the Prayer Plant gets its name from the fact that its leaves fold or roll up at night.

GLOXINIAS: What causes the leaves to curl on gloxinia plants? It's natural for some varieties to curl more than others. In winter, plants in a cold window will often curl, and in the heat of summer you often find gloxinias rolling their leaves inward.

A water-logged soil will cause curling, as will too much fertilizer. At any rate, curling of the leaves does not impair blooming and sooner or later plants will unroll their leaves when conditions are just right. Meanwhile, don't worry if your leaves curl on the gloxinia.

NORFOLK ISLAND PINE: Here's an outdoor tree grown as a pot plant indoors.

In summer sink pot outdoors in shade and syringe foliage almost daily. Bring indoors, and grow it in a cool window (55 to 60 degs) Too much light will yellow or burn the foliage. Red spider or mealy bugs are fond of this pine, so keep it sprayed with malathion to prevent infestations.

ROSE TROUBLES: Powdery mildew is one of the most aggravating diseases on roses. It affects foliage and stems, as well as flowers, and is worst in hot humid weather.

Powdery mildew causes leaves and young shoots to twist, and leaf surfaces under the fungus turns reddish or yellow, with a stunt in growth. Sometimes the buds fail to open, and those that do will produce discolored and small petals. Mildew spreads fast in a rose bed, and some roses are more susceptible than others.

Will the mildew which bothers lilacs trouble roses?

No. Fortunately, rose mildew bothers roses, and the powdery mildew which attacks lilacs will not spread to roses, or vice-versa. The climbing roses are highly susceptible to powdery mildew, and it's interesting to note that generally the rose varieties most resistant to mildew have thick glossy foliage.

CONTROL: Keep roses dusted with sulfur dust, or a material known as Miltex (or Karathane) found in various brands at garden stores. Roses grown in shade are more susceptible to mildew, so do all you can to let in more sun and increase air circulation.

This fall, rake up and burn all fallen rose leaves to reduce the mildew problem next spring. Also, next spring, start spraying or dusting as soon as the young leaves come out.

ANTS IN LAWNS: What's the easiest way to get rid of ants in lawns? As we mentioned some time ago, if ant hills are present, you can knock the ants out by punching a hole in the top and pouring in some crystals of powder of dieldrin or chlordane.

Some gardeners pour gasoline into the hole and let the fumes knock out the ants. Others pour in carbon bisulphide, and cover the hill with a piece of wet burlap or canvas.

WILD FLOWERS: Don't forget to take a trip into the meadows and fields to gather wild flowers for winter bouquets. Treated now, they'll last for years. Most wild flowers will dry when tied in a small bunch and hung heads down to preserve their natural state.

The stems will be straight and firm upon drying. Goldenrod, yarrow, bonsett, are a few of many items you can gather. Some materials can be dried, heads up, by placing the stems in a container of chicken wire.

By the way, ever try preserving delphinium blooms in sand? Place the spike in a trench and drizzle sand into and over each bloom. Some prefer to use silica gel, although sand works fine. You can dry roses for winter use, too.

Pick partially open flowers, place them in a shoe box and sift the sand between the petals. Bury the flower very gently and completely with dry sand or silica gel. These materials dry the flower so fast that the blooms keep their original color and shape.

Pickets Persist At Bronx Diner

NEW YORK (AP)—Pickets kept up an uneasy, but momentarily peaceful, racial demonstration yesterday at a Bronx diner where tumult and violence have erupted in the last 24 hours.

An African nationalist leader, protesting the conduct of police, predicted possible serious trouble ahead.

Riot-trained police maintained a close vigil at the scene, where one white youth was shot and slightly wounded by an air rifle in the midst of disorders in the early morning hours.

The Negro and white demonstrators from the Congress of Racial Equality are demanding that the White Castle chain, of which the diner is a part, fire more Negroes on its staff.

Anglers Must Watch Hippos

LUSAKA, Northern Rhodesia (AP)—Anglers have been warned to watch out for a rogue hippopotamus in the Kafue River near Mufumba. Three white fishermen in the area reported they had to swim for shore recently when the hippo hit a chunk from their boat.

Falconry, Sports, Medieval Lore Influence Latest Fall Fashions

By Bobby Westbrook

Daily Record Family Fare Editor

(BOBBY WESTBROOK, Daily Record Family Fare Editor, is attending the preview of Fall fashions at the showing of the New York Couture Group this week. She will report daily on the fashions presented for the Ottaway Newspapers.)

New York—What falconry, bowling, baseball, skiing and 50-mile hikes have to do with fashions, the fashion editors attending the Couture Group's fashion showings found out during the course of the second day of national press week.

The falcon flew in with Vincent Monte-Sano, as big in the fashion world as he is in person. Taking the medieval period as his own, he uses helmet-shaped hoods on jackets and coats, an elbow-length mummer's cape, and his evening costumes with floor-length coats slit up the sides like medieval robes over slender dresses flowing like medieval shifts and ovalled at the neckline. His fur jerkin costumes need only a falcon on the wrist to have stepped out of a 15th century illustration.

He creates the illusion of a wider shoulder line without padding. Jackets and suits are yoked or moulded to dropped sleeves. The large triangles of his crossover collar also create the illusion of a widening line.

The widening range of fashions was illustrated in the international designs for bowling fashions seen at the Sterling Bowl at Lake Success. It was a sort of success getting there at all in the buses out the Long Island Expressway which the guide called "the longest parking lot in the world." Traffic slowed by Worlds Fair construction moved at about five miles an hour—plenty slow enough to inspect the progress in construction on the new Municipal Park for what the guide called "our beloved Mets."

The Sterling Bowl, one of the plushiest of the new bowling lanes, also represents progress of a sort since it is built entirely underground with what would normally be the roof serving as a parking lot. Among the special guests parking there for the AMF-sponsored dinner and fashion show was Patrice Munsel, Metropolitan Opera Star and frequently-named among the ten best-dressed.

Costume 'Whipped Up'

What she laughingly referred to as "a bowling costume I whipped up" was a black and white-striped floor length evening gown in which she had come straight from an appearance on the Tonight Show.

To men who bowl in sun-tans and a bowling shirt with the name of the sponsor emblazoned on the back, the idea of wearing a bowling blazer designed by Rowes of Bond St. London, may seem just as laughable—but there they were; couture bowling fashions for the whole family, to be reported at length in a later story, even to the—for bowling's sake!—leopard bowling boots.

On their way back to New York, the press didn't have time to read the bowling book they were given with so much shop talk floating around. Among the passengers were two fashion editors from negro newspapers, and among the trend of the times is the fact that the designers are arranging to have their fashions photographed on colored models for their home papers.

Back in the world of sport, the Fur Information Council predicts fur sweaters to wear at football games or on the ski slopes. There was even a sweater in bleached Canadian ermine. About the only thing they haven't tried with fur yet is stretch mink.

Maybe "The woman who goes to dinner at the country club in a short evening dress will spend the evening in the powder room crying." And maybe not. But that's what Larry Aldrich president of the Couture Group, said. Certainly the long evening dress, long and tight and slit to the knee, or flowing chiffon fashioned into a slim shaft are definitely "in."

Spotlight Silhouette

Harvey Berin does them in a Spotlight Silhouette to focus on a ruby and gold translucent "put-over" above a long pink skirt of nubbed wool, or a full-length shaft of shaped Mardi Gras red velvet with a narrow ruby-jeweled halter neckline stemming from a giant jeweled medallion, its brief cutaway covering featuring deep sable cuffs.

Donald Brooks, award-winning designer for Townley, isn't country-clubbing at all. There's nothing of the "sports illustrated" about his frankly citified clothes. "The well-groomed woman won't wear 'country clothes' in any other element than they were intended for," he said firmly.

Low waistlines; pleated or wrap-around or even double-wrap-around skirts; full shirt sleeves; and overblouse tops softly bloused and banded at the hips mark his silhouettes. Details include a "bandit scarf", often printed with a dragon. A black dragon also makes a surprise appearance on the white silk lining of a doublebreasted suit of black wool crepe and on the back of its bow blouse of white silk crepe.

Teal Traina on the other hand features the "throwaway look" in a vagabond silhouette with low-down belts, rolled-over and lower blouses. Not a bandit but a hipster look is featured in a red velvet boy jacket over a porcelain blue chiffon cocktail dress.

Timeless Classics

Davidow has no gimmicks but timeless classics with matching coats and suits, and three-piece suits stretched to four by fringed matching scarfs. The cardigan comes in for a strong revival with a slightly longer jacket. The collection also endorses the demi-fitted suit more than demi-fitted in its front contours. Fine tailoring and rich fabrics are as always a Davidow trademark.

Ben Reig chose "At Ease with Life" as the theme of his collection, translating it in a gentlemen's jacket suit of checked worsted, or a "basic" suit of American Lammoire broadtail, or in his compositions keying a coat to a dress like a coat of pink cloud looped lace over a free-form dress of pink cloud jersey, or his jacket over a jumper over a shirt of black and white broken wool check.

What about the 50-mile hike? Well that's what the long-sitting fashion press needs to counteract the swelling ankles which are an occupational hazard of press week. Some of them got it in the dashes they made to see side collections.

To Leather Industries to see leather turning up in suits, coats, skirts and even in a long black leather evening dress; to Judith McCan's to see the loop-the-loop she's added to her wing-back earrings and shuv-on necklaces. To Trifari's for the medieval look of gold chain and mesh and bracelets and the Order-of-the-Garter type jeweled pins, or to Trader Vics to visit Chanel's representatives.

Fashion is a many-sided thing.

MONTE-SANO and Pruzan's pyramid back great greatcoat — dramatic black-and-white coverage for Fall 1963 — in diagonally-striped firm Scottish wool. The oversized crossover collar gives the illusion of a wider shoulderline.

More or less by accident, Cottman became one of those amateur doctors, learning by book and occasional professional advice when he touched civilization.

Palmer Flails To 76 In British Open Golf Tourney

ST. ANNE'S, England (AP) — Phil Rodgers, a wise-cracking former U.S. Marine, and Peter Thomson, a four-time winner from Australia, tied for the first round lead in the British Open Golf three-under-par 67s — nine shots ahead of defending champion Arnold Palmer.

Palmer, a 2-1 favorite to grab his third successive title, couldn't control his tee shots and wound up with a frustrating 67. This means he will be pressed to survive the second round out Thursday when the field is reduced to the low 45 and ties. Jack Nicklaus, the beefy U.S. Masters champion, remained in contention with 32-39-71, but the other four Americans, like Palmer, had trouble staying close to the par 34-35-70 of the 6,757-yard Royal Lytham and St. Anne's course.

Weather? Ugh!

Starting out in rainy, blustery weather and finishing in bright sunshine, Doug Sanders, the telephone-booth swinger from Ojai, Calif., and Herman Barron, U.S. Seniors champion from White Plains, N.Y., each shot 75. Jack Isaacs of the Langley Air Force Base in Virginia matched Palmer's 76 and Bob Marshall, an outsider from Huntington Beach, Calif., shot a 79.

Spectacular putting produced the brilliant pace-setting rounds by Rodgers, a 25-year-old regular of the U.S. tour, and Thomson, a diminutive stylist from Melbourne who won four British Opens in the space of five years between 1964 and 1968.

They had a stroke lead over Tom Haliburton, 48-year-old former English Ryder Cup player, and Bob Charles, a left-handed New Zealander who has won some $18,000 this year on the American tour, tied at 68.

Only two other players were able to beat St. Anne's rugged par on the wild day, which saw the weather switch abruptly from miserable rain and wind to almost absolute calm.

They were Kel Nagle, of Australia, the florid, husky Aussie who beat out Palmer by a stroke for the championship in 1960 at St. Andrews, and dark horse Ramon Sota of Spain, each with 69. Nagle shot 32-37 and Sota 34-35.

Frank Phillips of Australia was even par 70 and Sewgum Sewgum of South Africa was close with 71. Gary Player of South Africa also had his problems and fired a scattershot 36-39-75.

Palmer's miseries were caused by a bulky driver—the implement which has been principally responsible for projecting him to the pinnacle of the sport and producing all-time money-winning records.

"I couldn't drive a lick," the Ladbroke, Pa., golfing capitalist moaned afterward. "I missed six fairways. That's where I lost it all."

Palmer played with a realigned driver.

Nicklaus, challenging Palmer for world golf honors, also had trouble with his tee shots. After going out in two-under-par 32, he ran into driving trouble.

Rodgers, a sensation of the 1962 U.S. winter tour, used only 29 putts on his spectacular round.

L. A., Colts Win In Light Action

Mets Lose, 1-0

NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Podres' three-hit, 11-strikeout pitching performance and an eighth-inning home run by John Roseboro produced a 1-0 victory for the Los Angeles Dodgers Wednesday night as the National League leaders handed New York's last-place Mets their 11th straight defeat.

Roseboro settled the duel between Podres and Carl Wilentz when he drove one of the Met right-hander's pitches into the lower right field seats at the Polo Grounds with one out in the eighth.

Podres, 7-6, recorded his second straight shutout and now has a string of 23 scoreless innings. The 30-year-old left-hander walked two and did not allow a Met run past second base.

Los Angeles 000 000 010 1 5 1 New York 000 000 000 0 3 1 Podres and Roseboro; Wilentz, MacKenzie (9) and Gonder, W—Podres 7-6, L—Wilentz 6-8.

Colts Stampedede PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Houston Colts jumped on Pittsburgh pitcher Bob Friend for two runs in the first inning Wednesday night and went on to defeat the Pirates 2-0 behind the combined pitching of Ken Johnson and Hal Woodeshick.

Woodeshick, who pitched in the All-Star game Tuesday, relieved Johnson with the bases loaded in the eighth inning and struck out Smokey Burgess to retire the side.

Houston 200 000 000 2 6 0 Pittsburgh 000 000 000 0 5 1 Johnson, Woodeshick (8) and Bateman; Friend and Burgess. W—Johnson 5-11, L—Friend 10-8.

Phil's Trip Giants PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies, helped by loose San Francisco fielding, whipped the Giants 10-2 Wednesday night for their third straight victory.

With Willie McCovey hitting his 23rd homer and Orlando Cepeda his 17th, the Giants led 2-1 after four innings—but their defense began to fall apart in the fifth.

Then in the sixth, with two out and runners at first and second, McCovey dropped John Callison's high fly in left for two-base, two-run error. Tony Gonzalez singled home Callison for a third unearned run off relief pitcher Jack Fisher.

San Fran. 100 100 000 2 10 3 Phila. 000 133 308-10 14 3 O'Dell, Fisher (5), Hoelt (7) and Bailey; McLish, Klippstein (7) and Dulympy, W—McLish 9-4, L—O'Dell 1-5.

Registering Your Bonds

By William A. Doyle

Q. I have a number of U.S. Savings Bonds, all of which are registered in my maiden name, payable on death to my sister. I am now married and would like to have the registration on these bonds changed to my married name, payable on death to my husband. Can this be done, without cashing the savings bonds?

A. Sure, U.S. Savings Bonds, in addition to being a handy and worthwhile method of investment, are quite flexible. You can do a lot of things with them.

The U.S. Treasury Department has arrangements for cases such as yours. Naturally, there is a certain amount of paperwork involved.

You will have to fill out "Form PD 1474," which is a "Request for Reissue of U.S. Savings Bonds as Result of Change of Name" and "Form PD 1787," which is a "Request to Reissue U.S. Savings Bonds to Add a Beneficiary or Co-owner or Eliminate a Beneficiary or Deceased Co-owner."

Don't let the long titles of these forms bother you. These are the two basic forms the Treasury Department has drawn up to handle all cases mentioned in the titles of the forms.

You can obtain copies of the forms, have them filled out properly and certified at your local bank or at the office of any other "issuing agent" for savings bonds.

Q. I am writing to you because I am so unhappy with brokers and their recommendations. Every time I buy a stock on my broker's say-so, the market price of that stock drops. This has happened many times. I am beginning to think that when brokers have stock they want to unload they sell it to me. Is that possible?

A. It's possible, but most improbable.

I read your letter to mean the following. You suspect that the brokers with which you have done business of owning certain stocks themselves, keeping the prices of those stocks high, recommending and selling the stocks to you. After you buy the market prices of the stocks fall.

Believe me, neither you nor the brokers you have been dealing with throw that much weight around in the stock market. Stock prices are determined by the actions of people (buyers and sellers and potential buyers and sellers) all over the wide, wide world.

However, if you are looking for sympathy, to you I will say "Tough luck, feller." If you are looking for advice, I'll offer the following. In the future make your own investment decisions. Stop blaming every bad move on the brokers.

Q. I am very much in favor of the new "taxpayer numbering system," through which the Internal Revenue Service will know exactly how much interest and dividends is paid to individual taxpayers. Does this also apply to brokers, banks and big corporations?

A. Indeed it does. The IRS is tightening up its methods of collecting information on all fronts.
